RETHINKING PHILANTHROPY'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE FINANCING FOR DEVELOPMENT AGENDA AND BEYOND

Monday, 13 July 2015, 3.30 pm-6.00 pm, Elilly Hotel, Mars Room

AGENDA

Moderator: Elizabeth Cousens, Deputy CEO, United Nations Foundation

3.30 pm – 4.15 pm Setting the scene and keynote opening remarks

Scene setting: Mario Pezzini, Director, OECD Development Centre

Opening remarks by Gabriela Ramos, OECD Chief of Staff, G20 Sherpa and Special Counsellor to the Secretary-General

Special keynote address by Amina Mohammed, Special Advisor to Ban Ki-Moon on Post-2015 Development Planning

The side event will open with a keynote address by the Special Advisor to Ban Ki-Moon on Post-2015 Development Planning. A ministerial-level government representative of Mexico will then share the country's experience of engaging with philanthropy, both at the national and global levels, as co-chair of the Global Partnership for Effective Development Cooperation. The Rockefeller Foundation will complement this picture by providing insights on how the role of philanthropy has evolved over time as part of the development "galaxy" and of recent successful PPPs in support of youth employment in Africa.

Juan Manuel Valle, Executive Director, Mexican Agency for International Development Co-operation

Mamadou Biteye, Managing Director, Africa, Rockefeller Foundation

4.15 pm – 5.00 pm New tools and innovative approaches between foundations and governments in support of the Post-2015 agenda

Distinguished panellists will discuss how philanthropy can be a catalyst in the context of the Post-2015 agenda, from a financing perspective as well as a driver of new tools and innovative approaches, such as venture philanthropy. They will give concrete examples of how philanthropic and public resources could be further optimised and deployed more efficiently to achieve the Post-2015 agenda with an enhanced focus on partnerships, impact and cost-efficiency. In particular, the "Accelerating Impact 2030" initiative, led by netFWD will be briefly introduced as a collective effort about to be launched, aimed to bring together philanthropic foundations, impact investors and governments to pool their expertise and resources to demonstrate how deliberate collective efforts can contribute to accelerate the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

Senior-level Representative of the government of Rwanda (tbc)

Bisi Adeleye Fayemi, Co-founder, African Grantmakers Network

Clare Woodcraft, CEO, Emirates Foundation for Youth Development

Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Netherlands

Michael Anderson, CEO, Children's Investment Fund Foundation (CIFF)

5.00 pm – 5.45 pm [Country-focus session] How had India benefitted from leveraging philanthropic capital?

India is not only becoming one of the world's largest emerging economies, it also counts for a vivid emerging philanthropic scene that triggers innovation and new partnership models with other development actors. Panellists will provide their views on how philanthropic capital has played – and can still play – a critical role to help address some of the major financing, social and economic challenges at stake in the country.

Neera Nundy, Partner, Dasra

Manisha Bhinge, Senior Manager, Partnerships, Tata Trust

Sam Parker, CEO, Shell Foundation

5.45 pm – 6.00 pm Way forward and closing remarks

Special Closing Keynote by Lilianne Ploumen, Minister for Foreign Trade and Development Co-operation, Netherlands and Co-Chair of the Global Partnership for Effective Development Co-operation

Senior-level Representative of the government of Kenya (tbc)

Nicola Harrington, Deputy Director, OECD Development Centre
