

About the Global Partnership for Effective Development Co-operation

The Global Partnership for Effective Development Co-operation (Global Partnership) brings together a wide array of stakeholders to advance and support effective development co-operation across the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. Its membership includes: governments; multilateral, international and regional organisations; civil society, trade unions, the private sector and foundations; local and regional governments; and parliamentarians.

The Global Partnership provides a dedicated space for all stakeholders to advance the effectiveness, quality and impact of their respective development co-operation efforts by supporting:

- ❖ Ownership of development priorities by developing countries: Countries should lead in defining the development priorities that they want to implement.
- ❖ A focus on results: Sustainable impact should drive all investments and efforts in development policy making.
- ❖ Inclusive partnerships: All relevant actors must have the space to engage in development, recognizing their diversity and the complementarity of their actions.
- ❖ Transparency and shared responsibility: Development co-operation must be transparent and accountable to all citizens.

Supporting the Implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development

Realising the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development requires all countries and actors to work together effectively – for everyone and everywhere. SDG 17 calls for governments and stakeholders to revitalize the global partnership for sustainable development, including through development co-operation and development financing.

Ending poverty not only requires a vast amount of resources and investment, but also changes in the way development actors work together to support the most vulnerable. This is the power of effective development co-operation.

We must now focus on “how” the 2030 Agenda can be best achieved.

HLM2 – Towards Inclusive and Accelerated Implementation of the 2030 Agenda

The Second High-Level Meeting (HLM2) of the Global Partnership aims to intensify the positive impact of development co-operation over the next 15 years. Hosted by the Government of Kenya in Nairobi (28 November – 1 December 2016), it will:

- ❖ Take stock of the implementation of development effectiveness principles and commitments.
- ❖ Provide a learning space on development effectiveness, showcasing successful examples.
- ❖ Identify innovative approaches to sustainable development that can be scaled up.
- ❖ Position the Global Partnership to effectively contribute to implementation of the SDGs and the Addis Ababa Action Agenda.

HLM2 will convene high-level government officials, major international organisations and leaders from the private sector, philanthropy, civil society, local governments, parliaments and other relevant actors to highlight, for instance, innovative collaborations helping realise the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. Based on global feedback, the HLM2 outcome document will help shape how existing and new development actors can collaborate to help realise the 2030 Agenda.

The Global Partnership in Action: Monitoring Progress

The Global Partnership monitoring framework tracks, among others, the behaviour of participating development actors against agreed effectiveness principles and commitments. Findings from the second round will provide data from over 80 partner countries and more than 90 development partners. Findings are being made available to support tracking of specific SDG and FFD follow-up and review commitments.

The Global Partnership has also led the launch of 49 initiatives on effective development co-operation. These include: the New Deal for Engagement in Fragile States that has established a formal dialogue between the g7+ group of fragile and conflict affected states and the development co-operation community; the setup of the Tax Inspectors Without Borders programme to better co-ordinate support to national tax administrations, coupled with increased support to countries for mobilising domestic resources; and Gender Equality Tracking Systems to create more data disaggregated by sex.
