Reinvigorating Effectiveness for the 2030 Agenda
Paris | 11-12 September 2018

The challenges to achieving sustainable development are more complicated, persistent and interlinked than ever. In addition to economic shocks, political shifts, and natural disasters, this increasing complexity is due to new and emerging development actors, diverse financial flows, and multiple objectives across economic, social and environmental dimensions. As a result, inclusive and effective partnerships that deliver tailored solutions are even more critical. Established effectiveness principles provide an overarching framework for strengthened development partnerships that yield long lasting, sustainable development results. At the same time, translating principles into action across diverse country contexts calls for a renewed focus on the key drivers of success. Three years into SDG implementation, the time is ripe for fresh thinking on how effectiveness relates to the dynamic sustainable development challenges.

In preparation for its Senior-Level Meeting in the margins of the July 2019 UN High Level Political Forum, the Global Partnership for Effective Development Co-operation will convene stakeholders on 11 and 12 September 2018 to accelerate country-led efforts for implementing and monitoring effective partnerships, and to inject fresh thinking into effectiveness approaches that foster tailored solutions. The first day of the meeting will bring together partners engaging in the 2018 Global Partnership monitoring round to exchange experiences in support of a successful monitoring effort. The second day will facilitate senior-level policy discussion to identify key drivers of success for a reinvigorated and tailored effectiveness agenda that fast tracks progress on achieving the SDGs.

The outcomes of the meeting will inform and shape the Global Partnership's substantive deliverables for its upcoming Senior-Level Meeting and the 2019 High-Level Political Forum.
