(5-9 March | Doha, Qatar)
Theme: From Potential to Prosperity

THE GLOBAL PARTNERSHIP FOR EFFECTIVE DEVELOPMENT CO-OPERATION IS...

...in a word: Partnerships.

...in a phrase: the primary multi-stakeholder vehicle for generating and sharing knowledge on effective development co-operation, to “maximize the effectiveness of all forms of co-operation for development for the shared benefits of people, planet, prosperity and peace”.

...and if you have a bit more time: We have what we need to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), and a framework for what this needs in the Financing for Development (FfD) process. The Partnership complements these efforts by focusing on how we partner and work together – through principle-based, evidence-led, development efforts – to achieve the 2030 Agenda. It promotes four principles of effective development co-operation: (i) ownership by developing countries; (ii) a focus on results; (iii) inclusive development partnerships; and (iv) mutual accountability and transparency.

- Development progress in Least Developed Countries (LDCs) is not on pace to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) by 2030. Multiple challenges like the COVID-19 pandemic and climate change are disproportionately impacting LDCs and its disadvantaged groups, leading to increasing financing needs.
- Development co-operation, while remains very important for financing investment for sustainable development, lacks quality in LDCs compared to other country groups, for instance regarding the use of Public Financial Management Systems and the predictability of development co-operation.
- In line with the overarching goals of the Doha Programme of Action (DPoA), it is more critical than ever for development co-operation – including North-South, South-South and triangular co-operation modalities – to become more effective in accelerating development progress and SDG implementation in LDCs as well as supporting sustainable graduation from the LDC country category, based on the effectiveness principles of country ownership, a focus on results, inclusive partnerships, and mutual transparency and accountability.
- A strong demand by LDCs for effective development co-operation was demonstrated through the participation of 26 LDCs in the 2022 Effective Development Co-operation Summit. In line with the DPoA, the Summit Declaration refocuses the attention on leaving no one behind and commits to increase the effectiveness of development co-operation with LDCs.
- The Summit also highlighted the importance of a more robust, inclusive multilateral system grounded in co-operation, solidarity and mutual trust; and called for a shift in both business models and behaviors. Quality funding will ultimately deliver quality results. It is therefore important to avoid fragmentation of efforts and to pool resources effectively across sectors and actors.
- The new Global Partnership monitoring exercise is set to drive collective accountability for more effective development co-operation, with enhanced focus on country-anchored processes. LDCs can use the evidence derived as a vehicle for inclusive national dialogues and as an instrument for action to improve the quality of development co-operation in line with national priorities. 24 LDC governments have already expressed interest in leading the monitoring exercise between 2023 and 2026.
