

What does the Global Partnership for Effective Development Co-operation (GPEDC) do?

The GPEDC is a multi-stakeholder platform that brings together all types of development actors to advance the effectiveness of their development efforts, to deliver results that are long-lasting, and contribute to the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

NATIONAL AND LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

CIVIL SOCIETY

PRIVATE SECTOR

BILATERAL AND MULTILATERAL ORGANIZATIONS

TRADE UNIONS

PARLIAMENTS

PHILANTHROPY

The GPEDC and its partners support the practical implementation of the internationally-agreed effective development co-operation principles:

Country ownership over the development process

All partners work together under government leadership to maximize the impact of development resources and achieve national priorities.

A focus on results

Development efforts have a lasting impact on eradicating poverty and enhancing partner countries' capacities.

Inclusive development partnerships

All partners are engaged in development planning and implementation, recognizing their specific and complementary roles.

Transparency and mutual accountability

Stakeholders are transparent in their co-operation and hold each other accountable for delivering on mutually-agreed outcomes.

How is the GPEDC supporting achievement of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development?

The 2030 Agenda – as well as the short time remaining in which to deliver it – highlights the need to mobilize more resources, use them more effectively and bring in more partners to drive sustainable development. The GPEDC supports more effective development co-operation by:

1. Contributing to increased effectiveness at the country level

3. Supporting engagement of the private sector through development co-operation

5. Strengthening political momentum for effective development co-operation

2. Promoting knowledge-sharing and peer-learning on effective approaches

4. Learning from all types of development co-operation

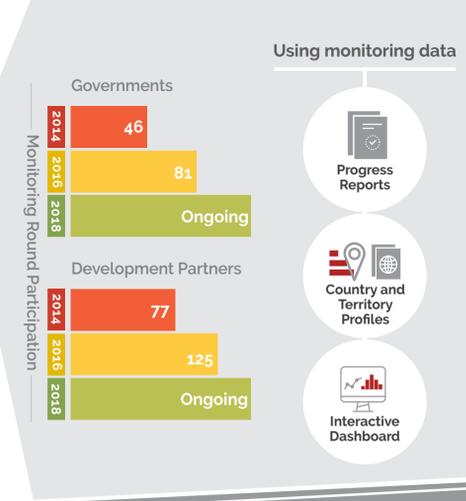

Monitoring progress

by supporting a voluntary, country-led and multi-stakeholder process to track implementation of effective development co-operation commitments at the national level through ten key indicators.

GPEDC monitoring provides evidence to SDG follow-up and review on:

- Respecting countries' policy space and leadership (SDG 17.15)
- Multi-stakeholder partnerships for development (SDG 17.16)
- Gender equality and women's empowerment (SDG 5c)

How is the GPEDC helping drive more effective development co-operation?

Countries and their partners are committing to more effective development co-operation

The GPEDC's multi-stakeholder network

Our Global Reach: The GPEDC brings together 161 countries and 56 organizations around the four principles that form the foundation of effective development co-operation, as agreed in the 2011 Busan Partnership Agreement. The GPEDC is jointly supported by the OECD and UNDP.

Co-Chairs: The GPEDC is led by 3 ministerial-level Co-Chairs. Bangladesh, Germany, Indonesia, Malawi, Mexico, the Netherlands, Nigeria, Uganda and the United Kingdom have all served as Co-Chairs.

A Steering Committee: The GPEDC's governing body includes 25 representatives of national and local governments, civil society, the private sector, trade unions, parliaments and philanthropy. It meets biannually to guide the work of the GPEDC.

30 Global Partnership Initiatives (GPIs): GPIs are voluntary initiatives, spanning nine key areas of work, which directly implement the effective development co-operation principles at the country level. GPIs include the CSO Task Team, International Aid Transparency Initiative, South African SDG Hub, Tax Inspectors Without Borders, and the GPIs on Effective Triangular Co-operation and Results and Mutual Accountability, among others.
